

James was an exceptional intern over the summer of 2023 and I was lucky to have him on my team.

He quickly mastered the ins and outs of the business which enabled him to make the most out of the 10 weeks we had together and lead to him leaving a larger impact on the business. His work in Looker and Snowflake greatly helped better convey some tricky data we wanted more easily accessible and he did it almost completely independently and correctly.

For the capstone work in his internship, we tasked him with an open ended data deep dive to find any and all insights into a new product we rolled out just before he joined to ensure that it was working as we hoped.

To accomplish this, he used R and SQL effectively and found some great callouts and next steps which helped the org progress in a direction that was beneficial to the business.

His attention to detail, great visuals, and solid tech skills all set him apart. I would be happy to have him on my team in the future.
